

SUGGESTED READING LIST
 MASTER OF ARTS IN LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES
 COMPREHENSIVE EXAMINATION

The literature on Latin America generated by historians, social scientists and literary critics is voluminous. It is difficult to compile a single list of works which does justice to the disciplines studying Latin America. The following titles are designed to give the M.A. candidate in Latin American Studies a useful sampling of the most representative works, serving as a guide to the available literature. Suggestions are printed as given by professors, and some citations are incomplete. The list is not meant to be comprehensive, and the separation of texts by category is not definitive.

Students should consult these works as a core reading list for the comprehensive examination and supplement them with works discussed in individual courses. All students are encouraged to examine some of the original works excerpted in the various readers included in this general reading list.

Many students who have previously taken the CLAS M.A. Comprehensive Examination made good use of various electronic resources. While we don't have anything approaching a "comprehensive" list of such sites and sources, we can offer a few suggestions – please let us know if you have any more ideas for future comps-takers.
